HARRISON A. WILLIAMS, JR.
CHAIRMAN

United States Senate

COMMITTEE ON
LABOR AND PUBLIC WELFARE

To: Senator

From: LB

Apr. 26

You may not want to get into any of this Arts and Humanities
tonight -- but it's ready to go,
and I thought you might want to glance at it later today.

It's for the Mark-up
Wednesday at 11 a.m.

TO: SENATOR
FROM: LB

Apr. 26

Attached is the Arts and Humanities bill with notations regarding the various sections. If this seems cumbersome, I can prepare it differently -- but on a flat surface it seems to work ok, and it keeps everything together.

The mark-up is for Wedd. at 11 a.m. in Room 4232 as you know.

We have had a number of staff meetings on the bill.

As of last Friday (Apr 23) there was general staff agreement with the following important exceptions. Greg Fusco asked especially that discussion on these controversial areas be deferred at a staff level until Sen. Javits has a chance to discuss them with you personally. I gather he plans to do this in advance of the meeting, but if not it would seem that it's not too likely they can be decided in mark-up. I will keep at this -- as we want as quick action as possible.

The controversial areas:

1. State Humanities. In the bill attached, your amendment appears which essentially would grandfather in a new State Humanities council format within the next three years -- or grandfather out the existing program.

I'm told both Stafford and Taft are most eager to maintain the present status quo -- they have been approached by personal friends on the existing State committees (Sen. Aiken, for one, in Vermont.)

I think we might win a close vote on this -- but at present Javits would oppose you on it, and this is to be avoided if possible.

Accordingly Fusco is working on a Javits compromise which he must first show to the Senator.

2. Museums. The House bill puts Museum Services under HEW. None of the staff members in the Senate like this -- but Brademas did it for very valid political reasons, unlikely to change and emanating from Al Quie who said he would back the program only under HEW. Fusco is working on a compromise which would put the program under the umbrella of the Arts and Humanities Foundation (but under neither Endowment). I like his plan. He volunteered to take this on, and I gladly accepted, as whatever comes out of the Javits camp on this would have to have clearance from the Arts and Humanities. Provided it's a good solution, it's good to have it come from the Republicans. The concept is yours -- they're merely concerned with the proper place.

3. Parity. This may be the most sticky of all. Brademas bowed to Berman's major push for parity. I know that Javits and Berman have had at least two private meetings -- without staff present. Javits is, as we know, more in favor of the arts -- but he is under lots of pressure.

- Change in status of State-based Humanities Committees. Compromise can be offered. See separate data on this issue.	Senator Pell	This is perhaps the single most controversial issue of the reauthorization bill. No support for the Pell position has been forthcoming. Sens. Randolph, Eagleton, Stafford expected to oppose Pell. Mail is overwhelmingly against change.
Adds "local arts agencies" to list of areas worthy of NEA support	National Assembly of State Arts Agencies. Community	Support for local arts orgs. is just beginning to take off. This brief mention is a gesture in the right direction. Other competing groups will go along with it since no $$ is involved
Adds phrase "cultural diversity" to general NEA mandate	Administration	A gesture to minority organizations.
Adds Northern Marianas to the definition of a State	Administration	Public Law 94-241 requires the Northern Marianas to be eligible for Federal funds in same manner as other territories.
Strikes obsolete reference to "District of Columbia Recreation Board"	Administration	Language is obsolete
Adds paragraph to limit "States" to those several states of the Union and those special jurisdictions with population over 200,000 (i.e. Puerto Rico and D.C.)	Administration	The less populous jurisdictions cannot effectively use the full "Basic State Operating Grant" from the Endowment
Gives NEA Chairman permission to make interagency agreements	Administration	This is a major thrust of the Federal Council on the Arts & Humanities. Joan Mondale very supportive. ICA, Veterans, GSA and Interior are already involved.
