TICKET ENDOWMENT

The Ticket Endowment program subsidizes the cost of tickets to concerts, plays and other performances for students, senior citizens, military personnel, disadvantaged groups and service agencies.

In FY 1972-73 15,248 persons bought subsidized tickets at a cost to the Council of $20,332.
In FY 1973-74 19,302 persons bought subsidized tickets at a cost to the Council of $27,634.
In FY 1974-75 19,606 persons bought subsidized tickets at a cost to the Council of $27,674.

Some two dozen producing organizations' performances are regularly covered by Ticket Endowment. They include Trinity Square Repertory Company, the Rhode Island Philharmonic Orchestra, the Newport Music Festival and Artists Internationale.

ARTS IN EDUCATION

This program's avowed purpose is "to aid educators to develop better use of art resources in the educational process and encourage local education agencies to make a strong commitment to the arts as an essential part of the curriculum."

Main activities of the arts-in-ed program are artists in the classrooms, teacher training, performances and follow-up sessions.

In FY 1974-75, the most recent completed fiscal year, Arts-in-Ed involved 143 artists, 344 teachers, and 185 members of arts organizations, in addition to the 10,289 students mentioned above.

The program's budget for FY 1974-75 was $159,810. That figure includes the salaries of the five artists-in-residence.
ARTS IN THE COMMUNITY (HAPPENINGS)

Providing workshops, performances and consulting services to community agencies (such as libraries and neighborhood centers,) Happenings began as a summer program in 1972. It became a year-round operation in 1974.

In its first full year of operation (FY 1974-75,) Happenings employed 32 artists who worked with 34 community agencies throughout the state. These artists conducted 750 workshop sessions involving a total of 3,800 persons. An additional 3,500 persons attended performances produced by Happenings' artists.

Happenings' budget for that year (FY 1974-75,) was $46,508. Happenings' budget for FY 1975-76 is approximately $48,000. Because of funding cutbacks, Happenings' budget for 1976-77 is projected at approximately $30,000.

ARTS IN CORRECTIONS

The program's "primary aim is to demonstrate unequivocally the efficacy, indeed the necessity, of art programs in the education/rehabilitation paradigm, so that the program will become an integral part of corrections in Rhode Island."

Arts in Corrections began as a pilot program in FY 1973-74 with a budget of $2,000. As a full-fledged program in 1974-75, its budget was $18,000.

In 1974-75 Arts in Corrections offered 18 workshop series to adult and juvenile inmates led by 19 artists. An additional 60 artists were involved in nine performances presented at either the ACI or the Training Schools and Juvenile Diagnostic Center.

Some 100 inmates took part in workshops regularly, out of total prison (and training school) population of between 500 and 600.

The program also organized three public exhibitions of inmates' artwork.
CITY SPIRIT PROGRAM (Providence)

The City Spirit Program, new this year, has been described as "a multimedia arts approach to evaluating and improving the urban environment."

With a budget of $50,000 ($5,000 from the council, $25,000 from the National Endowment for the Arts, and $20,000 from the City of Providence,) the program brings 600 Providence fourth graders together with artists so that the youngsters may "learn to see Providence in new ways through the eyes of the artist...to become aware of space, design, history, cultural resources and city systems."

The program also involves parents, neighborhood and community groups, government officials and business people.

ARTS AND THE AGING

Arts and the Aging began in 1972. Since then, more than 2,000 people have taken part in the program's activities.

Its general goals are "to increase awareness of and participation in the pleasures of the creative process (whether in manipulating clay, making an expressive body gesture, or shaping words) among the elderly population in Rhode Island."

Activities in 1974-75 included leather work, performances by visiting violinists, architectural tours, weaving, bread dough sculpture and many more.

The program's budget for 1974-75 was approximately $15,000. It is budgeted at a similar amount this year.
VARIOUS GRANTS

Institutional Support

Under this program, grants are made directly to major arts organizations to help them meet some of their regular operating expenses. An institutional support grant usually provides between six and ten percent of an organization's budget.

In 1975-76, $171,000 in institutional support grants was awarded to 12 recipients. They include:

Trinity Square Repertory Company $54,000
Museum of Fine Arts, RISD $41,000
R.I. Philharmonic Orchestra $34,000
R.I. Historical Society $10,000
Artists Internationale $10,000
Looking Glass Theatre $ 9,000

Special Projects

Special project grants are made to non-profit arts organizations on a matching basis for specific projects or to cover certain expenses.

In 1975-76, $25,575 worth of special project grants was awarded to 13 groups. Among projects funded are:

The use of billboards as display space for original graphic art ($1,000 grant to Loft Horizons, an artists' collective in Providence.)

Part of the salary of Westerly Arts Center's executive director ($2,000 grant;) and part of the salary of the Lincoln Arts Council's executive director ($1,000 grant.)

Construction of Uillean pipes (a traditional Irish instrument somewhat similar to bagpipes) under a $1,000 grant to the R.I. Bicentennial Commission's Irish Heritage Committee.

In 1974-75, $44,585 worth of special project grants was awarded to 30 recipients.
Touring Grants

Touring grants are awarded, logically enough, to arts organizations to help cover the costs of performances and exhibitions that travel to various sites in Rhode Island.

In 1975-76, $4,400 in touring grants was awarded to four organizations (Barrington Boys Choir, Loft Horizons, New Music Ensemble and Puppet Workshop.)

In 1974-75, $5,000 was awarded under the touring grants program.

Dance Residencies

The council coordinates Rhode Island's participation in the National Endowment for the Arts' dance residency program, under which nationally known dance companies offer performances and workshops locally. Through the council, NEA provides one third of a dance company's fee.

In 1975-76, $10,807 was paid to four sponsoring agencies (Artists Internationale, Brown University, Newport Music Festival, and the University of Rhode Island) for seven residencies (Boston Ballet, Daniel Nagrin Dance Company, Chuck Davis Dance Company, and others.)

In 1974-75, $8,582 was paid to four sponsors for five residencies.
PUBLIC ARTS EMPLOYMENT PROJECT (COMMERCE GRANT)

This one-year program operates under a $250,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Commerce. Its purpose is to create jobs for unemployed or under-employed artists by offering matching grants to public and private agencies for art projects.

As grant recipients are still being chosen, it is impossible to provide a complete list. However, projects already under way include:

Artists-in-residence for the Town of Bristol ($15,000 grant,) and the Town of Narragansett ($7,500 grant.)

A film about Providence neighborhoods ($8,575 grant to the R.I. Dept. of Community Affairs.)

A sculpture garden for the Flynn Model School in South Providence ($5,000 grant.)

GRANTS-IN-AID TO INDIVIDUAL ARTISTS

Since 1973 the council has awarded grants-in-aid to five Rhode Island artists every year. Each artist selected receives $3,000 with no strings attached. Grants-in-aid for 1976 will be made in the following disciplines: writing, film, music composition, two-dimensional art, and three-dimensional art.

About 140 artists have applied for this year's grants-in-aid. Last year, 205 applied.

CAREER EDUCATION IN THE ARTS

With a $65,000 grant from the federal Office of Career Education, the council operates the Arts Center in Pawtucket, a daily, after-school program for high school students interested in careers in the arts. 34 students are enrolled in the program, working with professional artists in a variety of disciplines.

A similar program, Artsworks, is offered to high school students in various locations during school vacation weeks or at night. Artsworks has a $22,500 grant from the state Education Department.
