Professor W. Freeman Twaddell
Department of Linguistics, Box E
Brown University
Providence, RI 02912

Dear Professor Twaddell:

In the absence of Senator Pell, who is abroad, I am responding to your recent letter in which you asked about possible financial aid from the National Endowment for the Humanities to enable you to attend a language conference in Mannheim, Germany.

I regret to inform you that the Humanities Endowment makes no grant support available for travel of any kind.

I suggest, however, that you contact Mr. David Arentz at the American Council of Learned Societies in New York City for information on their travel-grant program. I recommend that you write a full letter with the details of the session you plan to attend--including whether or not you plan to be an active participant.

The Council has three competitions a year, and the deadline for your application would not be until November 1980.

The American Council of Learned Societies is at 345 East 46th Street, New York, NY 10017. Telephone: (212) 986-7393.

Best wishes.

Sincerely,

Alexander D. Crary
