Items For Discussion at the Press BriefingDesign Forum Planning Meeting*March 3, 1995*11:00 am*Bayard Ewing Building*Rhode Island School of Design*231 South Main Street

Thank you for agreeing to participate in the upcoming press briefing. The briefing is intended to be an informal session in which to discuss with you the objectives of today's planning committee meeting and the upcoming National Forum on Design this fall.

President Mandle will welcome the media and introduce the assembled participants in the planning meeting. The following are potential items of discussion:

- The National Forum on Design—development of a platform to address the current state and future of design.
- The theme of "Design Is A Strategic National Resource" as a means to enhance America's economic, environmental, educational and social goals.
- The need to demonstrate and increase the visibility of the power of design.
- Design and how it relates to global competitiveness.
- Desire to generate a comprehensive perspective on design (academic, corporate, small business and federal government sectors).

Individuals representing the various sectors at the meeting will be:

Roger Mandle,

President, Rhode Island School of Design

Samina Quraeshi,

Director, Design Program

Dan Ritter,

Counsel, Subcommittee on Education, Arts & Humanities

Dianne Pilgram,
