

1991

Iannone, Carol: National Council on the Humanities Nomination (1991): Correspondence 03

Claiborne Pell

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.uri.edu/pell_neh_I_34

Recommended Citation

Pell, Claiborne, "Iannone, Carol: National Council on the Humanities Nomination (1991): Correspondence 03" (1991). Iannone, Carol: National Council on the Humanities Nomination (1991). Paper 33.
http://digitalcommons.uri.edu/pell_neh_I_34/33

This Correspondence is brought to you for free and open access by the Education: National Endowment for the Arts and Humanities, Subject Files I (1973-1996) at DigitalCommons@URI. It has been accepted for inclusion in Iannone, Carol: National Council on the Humanities Nomination (1991) by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@URI. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@etal.uri.edu.

United States Senate

WASHINGTON, DC 20510

July 24, 1991

Dear Madame Chairman:

Just a line to let you know that I understand and respect the strength and intensity of your feelings about the nomination which recently led us into difficult and unfortunate conflict.

And I admire the tenacity and skill of the campaign you waged on behalf of the nomination. You fought a strong battle and have many friends in all parts of the globe!

Though we disagreed on this issue, I know we both have great devotion to the Endowment you chair and I sense that we agree far more than we disagree on questions about the Endowment's role and its future. And I do hope we can work together to further that common vision.

Looking forward to our striving together for the good of the Endowment, the humanities and our Nation, I am

Ever sincerely,

Claiborne Pell

Honorable Lynne V. Cheney
National Endowment for the Humanities
1100 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C. 20506

bc: Sandy Cray ✓