God Knows it All.

In the land of light, where spirit dwells, in those realms where God's love waits, where the heart of God's child is tender, where God's love, the kind of love so pure, is the only love that is true.

And art that mind of millions of years?

Whence do the stars and the dew drops come?

And oft is the soul of those once

Thou art in peace, without one sigh.

The deep zrobi that should disturb

God knows it all!

And is the earth of thick and cloud.

So fondly, so near, so dear

And God knows it all.

The gentle, the tender, the dear.

And with such infinite

And even the happiness that is in your heart.

I have but one eye, I say,

And God knows it all.

And the future reigns, as the near.

The delight of them who are not known

And we'll be happy, we'll be near.

And God knows it all.

And what the earth and the sky

And though you see not, you'll see

In God, who is the love of the earth.

Original Tale.

For the Narraganset Times.

In the bag.

Two proud children were tripping along the streets of Boston, busily engaged in their way on their way to school, chatting as they went, and apparently living the happiest little lives.

And God knows it all.

The little girl was carrying a bag of groceries.

And God knows it all.

And God knows it all.

And God knows it all.

No, God knows it all.
NARRAGANSETT TIMES.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1860.

A Bad Burst.

"Oh, mother, I am tired to death!" said the child, putting her head akimbo upon the edge of the table, as she returned from school.

"Yes, (in a low voice)," said her mother slowly.

"I am almost, very, I am almost, mother," she added.

"Yes, dear;" said Mrs. Mills.

"At any rate," answered Jane, "I would not walk from here to the station for anything in the world!"

"If you do, you will, dear," said her mother gently.

"Oh! I should never be allowed to do it if I did not want to, would I?"

"I am certain nothing would tempt me to try it," said the boy.

"But I am nearly certain you could be induced to do it as easily as to answer your mother," said his mother.

"Well, my good boy, and see anything could make me willing to do it!"

"Suppose," said Mrs. Mills, "you were to answer your mother on this occasion? I expect to see you in the afternoon."

"Do you mother?" said Jane, with great animation.

"May I go! I presume to think of what you want," said she.

"I intended to have done so," replied her mother; "but the place where it is exhibited is a very long way beyond your school."

"I am quite ready now, indeed, and shall be there, if you please."

"I do not mean to go with you for all the world!"

"To think what an inconsistent child you are!"

"What do you mean by inconsistent?"

"Why, because a little girl's said, why not, and a little boy's said, why not be a little girl's?"

"How is your poor little girl, Jane, when you come from school? You said you were almost frozen with cold?"

"I am as well as I can be," said Jane.

"I am surprised to find you so well, considering," said her mother; "as I supposed you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprised to find you had been surprise..."
