Participant Biographies

Portia Burnette

Portia is a Talent Development student who will be graduating in 2016 with a BSN in Nursing, a BA in Biology, a BA in Philosophy, and a minor in Gender and Women's Studies. She identifies as lesbian, and while at URI she has played a significant role in the production of the film "It Gets Better at URI: Coming Out for Change" as well as in planning tonight's event. She has volunteered as a URI 101 Mentor, and worked as a SNAP Outreach Worker at the URI Feinstein Center for a Hunger Free America. She currently tutors Anatomy and Biology for the Pathways to Nursing Program in the College of Nursing, and works at Rhode Island Hospital as a Nursing Student Associate.

Charles Clark

Charles graduated from URI in 2011 with a BA in Communication. He identifies as a gay male. While at URI, Charles was a student athlete and participated on the Swim team that won nationals in 2011. In his free time he is part of the Friends, Lesbians, and Gays (FLAG) Football team. He currently works as a Production Assistant for the Boston Red Sox, operating the video board content during events and games.

Cidalia Silva

Cidalia obtained her BA in Psychology with a minor in Gender and Women's Studies at URI in 2012 and was a member of Talent Development. Cidalia identifies as transgender female and sexually fluid. While attending URI she volunteered at the GLBTQQ Center as a staff member and program coordinator. She was also active in the URIGHT, Gay Straight Alliance, and IMURI organizations and was a member of the LBTQ Women's Group. She helped to organize Diversity Week events, and assisted URI Hillel and the URI GLBTQQ Center in creating the first South County PFLAG group. She is now a Behavioral Specialist for a local non-profit called North American Family Institute.

Faculty/Staff Biographies

Annie Russell

Annie obtained her Ph.D in Higher Education Administration, her Masters in Education, and her BA in Gender and Women's Studies. She identifies as lesbian, and has served as the Director of the Gender and Sexuality Center at URI for the past 3 ½ years. She teaches part time in the Gender and Women's Studies and Honors Programs. She serves on the URI President's LGBTQ Commission at URI, and works every day to transform the culture at URI into one of acceptance. She has overseen the construction of the new stand-alone Gender and Sexuality Center, and creates new publications each semester to contribute to knowledge in her field.

Holly Nichols

Holly obtained her BA in Women's Studies and Psychology at URI and her Masters in Clinical Counseling. She has been a Clinical Counselor at the URI Counseling Center since 2006 and facilitating the LBTQ Women's Group since its inception in 2010. As an undergraduate, Holly designed the first Diversity Week webpage, was actively involved with the Committee to Eliminate Homophobia and Heterosexism, and chaired the URI LGBTQ Symposium. She identifies as lesbian, is a co-producer of tonight's film, and serves on the URI President's LGBTQ Commission.

Patricia Burbank

Dr. Patricia Burbank is a Professor and Associate Dean for Academic Affairs at the University of Rhode Island, College of Nursing, and a Fellow in the American Academy of Nursing. She is also a faculty member in the RI Geriatric Education Center and former co-chair of SAGE/ RI (Services and Advocacy for GLBT Elders). Her recent research is in the area of students' attitudes toward older adults, issues related to health of LGBT elders, and testing her invention, the AAGILE, to improve exercise behavior in older adults. She is the author of numerous articles and 3 books related to health of older adults.

Purpose

It Gets Better at URI: Coming Out for Change

was developed in 2011 as part of the nationally recognized "It Gets Better" campaign to prevent suicide by instilling hope in youth struggling with their sexual and gender identities.

Tonight's film features URI students, faculty and staff sharing their stories about struggle, triumph, and change in order to inspire us to think positively about the future. It also reveals the important roles allies play in making URI a welcoming and safe environment.
