Dear Senator:

I write to you about the proposed appointment of Edward Curran as chair of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

As a member of the Academic Community I have serious questions about Mr. Curran's qualifications for protecting the intellectual integrity of the NEH, and for representing the humanities and the work of scholars in the humanities to the Congress and to the American public.

I strongly urge that the Senate Committee hold a very serious hearing to provide Mr. Curran the opportunity to give the Senate Committee the information it needs in its decision regarding the conformation of his appointment.

Sincerely,

Janice Grow, Ph. D.
