NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE ARTS SUPPORT FOR ARTS ACTIVITIES IN RHODE ISLAND

Following is a summary of grants made by the National Endowment for the Arts to individuals and organizations in Rhode Island, support for national touring companies which have scheduled appearances in the State, and assistance to the State arts agency.

GRANTS TO INDIVIDUALS AND ORGANIZATIONS

Daniel C. Wills, an arts student who attended the Rhode Island School of Design, received a $1,000 Graduation Awards Grant under a program to enable promising young artists, composers and creative writers who graduated from college in June, 1966 to visit art centers, museums, institutions, cities or areas of the United States which will enrich their cultural experience.

An allocation of $330,000 has been announced to assemble two theatre companies of the highest professional quality, in cooperation with local school boards and the U.S. Office of Education, to improve the instruction of dramatic literature in secondary schools. The companies will play in cities where such theatre is not readily available, give free performances to student audiences and also play to the general public at a reasonable charge. This project is being initiated in Providence and New Orleans, Louisiana.

SUPPORT FOR TOURS

The Martha Graham Dance Company is scheduled to appear in Providence,

November 28, 1966. The Company received a $141,350 matching grant for an eight-week national tour in the fall of 1966.
