The Honorable Claiborne Pell
United States Senate
Committee on Labor and Human Resources
Washington, D.C. 20510-6300

Dear Senator Pell:

I am writing to convey my unreserved support of the confirmation of the reappointment of Mr. Daniel H. Carter to the National Commission on Libraries and Information Science, NCLIS.

Over the years that I've known and worked with Mr. Carter, I've learned to recognize and appreciate his common sense approach to many different programs and related goals. He has displayed a remarkable ability to serve in this type of assignment either as a contributor or a leader. His background, knowledge and capabilities make him especially well suited to continue his participation in the National Commission on Libraries and Information Science.

I have found that he has an impressive commitment to develop and ensure balanced perspectives and representation. In the implementation of programs or solutions he has been instrumental in attaining the best possible resolution, whatever that may be.

He has been extremely effective in ensuring balanced representation as the National Commission on Libraries and Information Science has worked toward improving library and information services. His perspectives have been instrumental in developing important policy decisions. He has worked diligently to support the philosophy that cooperative partnerships among libraries, information industries, government and users can provide the best possible information services to society.

It is my recommendation that volunteers such as Mr. Carter should be considered a valuable resource and their contributions utilized in an optimum manner. Please support his confirmation and reappointment to the National Commission on Libraries and Information Science.

Sincerely,

Margaret Chisholm
Director
