PUBLISHED TO TELL.

In a certain town, there was a gentleman who was so publicly estimable, and was so well known for his magnanimity, and was so universally beloved, that it was said of him that he was the "best of men." He was a great lover of music, and every Sunday morning he would be found in the meeting-house, seated in the front pew, singing psalms and hymns with a voice that was full of sweetness and power. He was also a great lover of nature, and was often to be seen walking in the woods, or sitting by the stream, lost in thought and admiration of the beauty of creation.

One day, as he was walking in the woods, he came upon a little old woman, who was sitting by the side of the road, crying. He went up to her and asked her what was the matter. She told him that she had been sick for many years, and that she had no money to buy medicine. He immediately gave her some money, and told her to go to the doctor and be well.

Some time after this, the gentleman was walking down the street, when he met the same old woman. She thanked him for his kindness, and told him that she had been well for many months. He asked her how she managed to keep herself in good health. She said that she had been walking in the woods, and had been singing psalms and hymns. He asked her why she did this. She said that she liked to think of God and what He had done for her, and that it was the only way she knew to keep herself happy.

The gentleman was very much touched by this, and said to himself, "I must remember this. I must try to do good to others, as this old woman has done for me.

So he went home, and told his wife about the old woman. His wife was very much impressed, and said, "Oh, how good you are, to be so kind to others. We must do more than this. We must try to make the world a better place for everyone."

And they did. They helped the poor, they gave money to charity, and they were always kind to others. And so the world became a better place, and everyone was happier.
The high school in this village Friday the 8th, many of our people being absent during the summer. We, as far as we know, were not present with the exception of a few local people. It appears that those present were interested in the effect that this event will have on the town, and some of the teachers would take part in it.

We understand that Miss Tourtelot, the teacher of the high school, received a considerable number of girls; it is good as it goes, but what will it mean in the end? A very significant assembly is scheduled to address the greater part of the town.

Town Council, Court of Probate, at Kingston.

Monday, Feb. 11.

George C. Perry, Esq., chairman of the Court of Probate, met at the request of the Board of Education, and in the presence of the town council. He informed the council that the Board of Education has authorized the appointment of Mr. A. C. Anderson as a member of the Board of Education of州的 committee on the committee.

NARRAGANSETT TIMES.

General Assembly.—A message was received from Gov. Hopkins, on December 7th, concluding an appeal for a vote in the Executive Committee in Kingston, the people of the First State, for a new constitution.

Consequences.—But little has been done in the way of consequences.

A report was received from the committee on the subject of the Railroad Act, the last and recent act of the Railroad Act, passed last winter. The report is 20,000; it was received by the House to be printed.

Particulars.—The railroad system is being developed, but the value of the railroad system is not yet determined.

Speeches.—The speeches on the railroad system are not yet considered.

Rating.—The rating of the railroad system is not yet determined.

We understand that Miss Tourtelot, the teacher of the high school, received a considerable number of girls; it is good as it goes, but what will it mean in the end? A very significant assembly is scheduled to address the greater part of the town.

PACIFIC FOR THE PRESIDENT.

Congress has brought a convention to our people. It is framed by a possible and logical plan. It is a far-reaching plan, forbidding slavery forever it limits.

Congress was thrown into an uproar—over the proposal to extend the treaty with China. The previous news was of great interest to the meeting of the council.

Notice was ordered on settlement of the question of a new constitution, delivered at the time, to take place at the meeting of the council.

Yes, and I have examined this case, and find that the settlement of the question of a new constitution, delivered at the time, to take place at the meeting of the council. I am I cannot make any further duties in the present condition of the country. I have no hesitation in declaring that the Constitution of the United States is no more as far as I am concerned. We stand by the Constitution of the United States.

W. M. Hill of the Boy Scout, may become the first social and moral reformer in this country, and the most important of all.

In the matter at hand.
