MUSEUMS AWARDED OVER $22 MILLION IN GENERAL OPERATION SUPPORT

WASHINGTON, DC -- Linda Bell, acting director of the Institute of Museum Services announced today the names of the 300 museums that will receive General Operating Support grants totaling $20,103,000. Applications were received from 1442 museums of all types from around the country. The recipients represent a wide range of museums from large and urban, to small and rural, and all museum disciplines from zoos and aquariums to art, history and children's museums.

Ms. Bell commented, "We rely on these institutions to act as stewards of our scientific, artistic and cultural heritage. Museums are recognized as powerful centers of learning; they are a positive social force in their communities, they enhance their communities public reputation and economy, they provide a place where diverse cultures can find values that unify them, and they have special resources to engage all learners. These grants will enhance the high quality museum services provided by these first-rate institutions."

General Operating Support grants are awarded to museums that have demonstrated excellence in all areas of museum operations. To apply, each institution must perform a complete self-evaluation involving every aspect of their operation from collections care and maintenance to educational programs and exhibits. While reviewers rated over 80% of the applicants to be meeting generally accepted standards of museum operations, funding was available to support 20% of the applicants. Grant amounts are equal to 15% of the museums operating budget to a maximum of $112,500. These grants are spent over a two-year time period.

The Institute of Museum Services (IMS) is an independent Federal agency, part of the National Foundation for the Arts and Humanities. It was established by Congress in 1976 in recognition of the vital public service museums provide as community centers of education and keepers of the collections that are our cultural patrimony. IMS provides assistance for operations and conservation activities through competitive and non-competitive programs to: natural history; art; history; and children's museums; zoos; nature centers; science and technology centers; botanical gardens; arboretums; and planetariums.

The policies of IMS are determined by the National Museum Services Board, whose 15 members are appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate.

A list of award recipients is attached.
