4-18-1981

Letters (1981): Correspondence 59

James Findlay

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.uri.edu/pell_neh_I_44

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.uri.edu/pell_neh_I_44/40

This Correspondence is brought to you for free and open access by the Education: National Endowment for the Arts and Humanities, Subject Files I (1973-1996) at DigitalCommons@URI. It has been accepted for inclusion in Letters (1981) by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@URI. For more information, please contact digitalcommons-group@uri.edu.
April 18, 1981

Senator Claiborne Pell
Old Senate Office Building
Washington, D. C. 20510

Dear Senator Pell:

I am enclosing with this letter a copy of a large grant proposal which I submitted on March 1, 1981 to the National Endowment for the Humanities. The proposal seeks to gain funding from the Endowment for a two year research effort leading eventually to the writing of a history of Rhode Island in the twentieth century. This proposal covers the period from 1900 to 1941. A quick reading of the narrative at the beginning of the proposal will make the scope of our research, the historical sources to be utilized, and the interpretative framework around which we will organize the data gathered.

I have long recognized your support of the two national endowments and your special concern for scholarly efforts relating to the history and culture of Rhode Island. I bring this project to your attention for any support you may wish to give it as it wends its way through the evaluation process at NEH. With kindest regards,

Sincerely yours,

James Findlay
Professor of History
University of Rhode Island