Librarian's Assessment

EDC 302X is a field experience course for students enrolled in Jumpstart URI for the entire academic year. This is a hybrid, or blended course, composed of several online assignments and outside readings along with scheduled face-to-face, on-campus meetings. Online readings and writing/responding to journals constitute the online portion of this course. This seminar will enable Corps Members to reflect upon their experiences, learn from one another, plan for each site visit, and glean new and useful concepts, ideas, and insights from the required readings.

There are no critical journals or identified library materials required for this course.

URI Curriculum Materials Library and the general education collection offer various early childhood education curricular materials on English language arts and social studies teaching and learning: textbooks, reference materials including national and state standards, media materials, materials on lesson planning, big books, games, manipulatives, kits, and instructional software, and general education resources.

URI Curriculum Materials Library offers a rich collection of journals and magazines that support general education and early childhood education English language arts and social studies teaching and learning: Aims Magazine, Teacher's Helper, Kids Discover, and My Big Backyard. Other journals such as Young Children, Childhood Education, The Reading Teacher, and Language Arts are available at URI or through Interlibrary Loan.

The Librarian considers that the Library can provide proper resources to support students with their work for this course.
