AAF 300 : Black Lives Matter/Blacks & Civil Rights Movements is an upper level course. The main subject areas to be covered by the course are African Americans and Civil Rights movements. All of the subject areas and specific topics dealing with the areas mentioned are areas of strength for the University Library and the Library is committed to maintaining that level of support especially in light of the fact that the course will require heavy library use during the research phase of the course.

We are able to add whatever appropriate monographic needs may arise for the instructor and students of this course, but we cannot add any new journal titles except through a drop/add policy that requires the department to identify a journal title (of equal value) that it would like to drop from its serials list to permit the addition of another. Our monographic holdings for African Americans and Civil Rights Movements are excellent and will meet the requirements of this course as stated by the instructor. The critical journals and electronic resources in the field are also held by the University Libraries.

All that said, we will be able to support this course bibliographically. My suggestion is that if bibliographic instruction is required for this course, the instructor for the course should contact our information literacy specialists through the Information and Research Help Desk at 874-2653.
