The Library Impact Statement for MHM 515 Practicum for Healthcare Management Professionals states that students will be conducting research in the course, and the proposed syllabus confirms this. The Library Impact Statement explains, “Students will research and write a paper to prepare for their career, about their fields of study and learn about trends in their industry.”

With regard to the question about what critical journals, monographs, and electronic resources the University Libraries must have to support the course, the response is: “In reviewing the URI library website, most journals that are needed for the course are listed as available online through the URI library portal.” Eleven journals are listed, nine of which the URI Libraries have current access to. (Frontiers of Health Services Management is available online only through 2017, and Harvard Business Review is not available online.)

Despite limited access to two of the listed journals, based on my review of the Library Impact Statement and the proposed syllabus for MHM 515 Practicum for Healthcare Management Professionals, I conclude that the University Libraries can meet the needs of this course with no additional resources.

In my role as Subject Selector for the College of Business, I support the addition of this course.
