Assessment of:

- Suitability of existing library resources;
- New library resources required to support the program;
- Information skills education required by the students; and
- Funds needed for library materials and services.

Please include:

1. What library holdings already exist in relevant subject categories. How much money is now allocated in the subject area?

The library has holdings in relevant subject categories, both monographs and journals. The allocation for monographic purchases for the Pell Library is approximately $6,000. As this course is open to all students, we can call on allocations from other departments if necessary.

2. Does URI have the essential journals as noted in the Faculty Questionnaire?

URI has access to the essential journals as noted in the Faculty Questionnaire.

3. What new resources are required to support the course (including media, electronic, or other non-print materials)?

No new library resources are required for the support of this course.

4. What information mastery sessions will be required for the students?

No information mastery sessions are required for the students. If individual instructors want to bring their classes to the library for instruction, they can make an appointment with the Instruction Unit of the Public Services department in the library at the beginning of any semester. We recommend this, especially for introductory level courses that require the collection of information sources for class assignments.

5. What is the approximate cost to acquire the materials necessary? Which of these will be continuing costs?

There are no new costs to the library for materials to support this course.
