Assessment of:

- Suitability of existing library resources;
- New library resources required to support the program;
- Information skills education required by the students; and
- Funds needed for library materials and services.

Please include:

1. What library holdings already exist in relevant subject categories. How much money is now allocated in the subject area?

   The libraries have plenty of material in relevant subject categories. The allocation for monographs for Education for 2018-19 is approximately $5,000.

2. Does URI have the essential journals as noted in the Faculty Questionnaire?

   There are no essential journals noted in the Faculty Questionnaire. In a brief search for history and languages, in a number of databases, it appears that we have access to plenty of journals in relevant subject categories.

3. What new resources are required to support the course (including media, electronic, or other non-print materials)?

   No new library resources are required to support this course.

4. What information mastery sessions will be required for the students?

No information mastery sessions are required for the students. It is often useful, even for graduate students to receive some instruction concerning subject specific databases and search strategies. Instructors can make an appointment for a session for their class at the beginning of each semester.

5. What is the approximate cost to acquire the materials necessary? Which of these will be continuing costs?

There are no new one-time or ongoing costs to the library for the support of this course.
