LIBRARIAN'S ASSESSMENT

Course: BUS 405 End-User Development for Business Analysis

The Library Impact Statement and syllabus for BUS 405 End-User Development for Business Analysis indicate that students will not be conducting research in the course.

In response to the question on the Library Impact Statement about what critical journals, monographs, and electronic resources the University Libraries must have to support the course, the response is, "None."

There are three publications listed on the syllabus as "Course Materials and Texts." Two are available free or open access online; I have ordered the third (Excel 2016 Power Programming with VBA, Wiley, 2016) as an e-book for the library collection for the convenience of students in the course, should they wish to not purchase a print copy or to supplement the print copy with the e-book.

Based on my review of the Library Impact Statement and the sample syllabus for BUS 405, I conclude that the University Libraries can meet the needs of this course with no additional resources.

In my role as Subject Selector for the College of Business Administration, I support the addition of this course without reservation.
