LIBRARY IMPACT STATEMENT
LIBRARIANS' ASSESSMENT

Course: FLM 220 – Topics in Intermediate Film Production (Intermediate Film Production.)

Department, College: Film Media Program in the Harrington School/College of Arts and Sciences

Faculty Member: Prof. Rebecca Romanow, Director

Date returned to Faculty : 21November2017

Librarian Completing Assessment: m. vocino

This course (Film 220) will serve as a production elective for the Film/Media program and will require only minimal bibliographic support. The instructor notes that no critical journals, monographs or electronic resources will be required for this course.

It should be understood, however, that the URI Libraries are able to add whatever appropriate monographic needs may arise for the instructor and students of this course, but we cannot add any new journal titles except through a drop/add policy that requires the department to identify a journal title (of equal value) that it would like to drop from its serials list to permit the addition of another.

Our monographic holdings in Film Studies/Media are excellent and will meet the requirements of this course. The critical journals and electronic resources that the University Library currently holds will suffice for this course. All that said, we are able to support this course bibliographically. If bibliographic instruction is required for this course, the instructor for the course should contact our information literacy specialists through the Information and Research Help Desk at 874-2653.
