FACULTY SENATE BILL #72-73-7

The Faculty Senate approved the following:

"to create a College of Continuing Education to replace the Division of University Extension"

December 13, 1972

Dr. Werner A. Baum
President
218 Administration

Dear Werner:

A precise statement should accompany this piece of legislation so that you will know exactly what the Senate did and what it did not do when it enacted the attached legislation.

The original motion read: "to create a College of Continuing Education to replace the Division of University Extension, as outlined below." The last clause was designed to incorporate the substance of the rationale, page 20 of the Agenda for the Faculty Senate meeting on November 9, into the main body of the motion.

However, it became clear during discussion that many Senators either did not fully understand that rationale or were not in agreement with all of it. As a consequence, a motion was made and carried to delete the clause, "as outlined below."

Thus, the motion to create a College of Continuation comes to you separated from the rationale for it, and such matters as the time at which the College would come into being, the time when the Extension Division be terminated, the staffing of the College, etc., are left ambiguous. Dean Dillavou stated during debate that authorization to create the College was in some measure window-dressing, that the significant substantive matter was authorization of the new degree program. The result is not satisfactory to me as an individual but the action reflects the will of the Senate.

Sincerely,

Stephen B. Wood
Chairman, Faculty Senate
