LIBRARY IMPACT STATEMENT (New Course Proposal)
LIBRARIAN'S ASSESSMENT

Subject selectors will complete this form as requested, assessing library materials and collections as detailed below. Send one copy of the assessment to the faculty member who requested it. Send one copy of the assessment to the Collection Management Officer.

Course: LHR 532 Seminar in Labor and Employment Law

Department, College: Labor Relations and Human Resources, College of Business

Faculty Member: Prof. Sean Edmund Rogers

Date returned to Faculty: May 6, 2022

Librarian Completing Assessment: Prof. Andrée Rathemacher

Collection Management Officer: Prof. Joanna Burkhardt

Assessment of:

- Suitability of existing library resources;
- New library resources required to support the program;
- Information skills education required by the students; and
- Funds needed for library materials and services.

Please include:

1. What library holdings already exist in relevant subject categories. How much money is now allocated in the subject area?
2. Does URI have the essential journals as noted in the Faculty Questionnaire?
3. What new resources are required to support the course (including media, electronic, or other non-print materials)?
4. What information mastery sessions will be required for the students?
5. What is the approximate cost to acquire the materials necessary? Which of these will be continuing costs?

The Library Impact Statement for LHR 532 Seminar in Labor and Employment Law states that students will not be conducting library research in the course. The proposed syllabus confirms this. The responses to the prompts on the Course Request LIS Form, “LIST the critical journals, monographs, and electronic resources in the field that the University Library MUST have in order to support this course or program” and “LIST any additional journals, monographs and electronic resources in the field that would support the course, but are NOT essential” are unfilled. Per the syllabus, there are three textbooks that will be used for the course. I have ordered one for the library collection in print format and the other two as e-books (one single concurrent user; one unlimited). The total cost is $213.95.

Based on my review of the Library Impact Statement and the proposed syllabus for LHR 532 Seminar in Labor and Employment Law, I conclude that:

Students will not require information skills education from the library for this course.

Existing library resources are suitable; no new library resources or funds are required to support the course.

In my role as Subject Selector for the College of Business and the Department of Labor Relations and Human Resources, I support the addition of this course.
