Dedication

WITH the publication of the 1931 GRIST, a new era begins at Rhode Island State College. Its fates and destinies lie in the guiding hands of a new leader. It is to our President, Raymond G. Bressler, on whom the eyes of every loyal citizen of Rhode Island is turned expectantly, that the Class of 1931 respectfully dedicates this thirty-first annual issue of THE GRIST.

The Faculty Adviser's Message

A PHILOSOPHY—not new, by the way,—which I recommend to you is as follows: Believe every-one good until they are proven bad, and then hope there may be a flaw in the testimony. This is not a good money-making scheme, and most people will tell you it isn't practical. Granted. But it is a philosophy which builds character, gathers friends and discourages hatred.

Foreword

THE members of the Class of 1931, after four happy years together, are leaving the cohesive influence of the college, each to follow his own chosen path. Except for occasional instances when class reunions are held, there will be no more opportunities to mingle with one another, discussing those things which tend to make a college life a happy one.

THE GRIST is published with the purpose in mind of refreshing from time to time the fond memories of this short period. Only when present fresh memories have become dimmed and faded by passing time will the priceless value of this volume become apparent.

Let us keep and treasure it, so that in three score years hence our aged fingers may turn the historic pages of our adolescent youth.
