THE GRIST

VOLUME XXXV

Published by the Senior Class of Rhode Island State College at Kingston, R. I

1935

DEDICATION . . .

TO FRANK W. KEANEY, A MAN WHO HAS NOT ONLY BUILT UP SPORTSMANSHIP AND FAIR PLAY, BUT WHO IN HIS FIFTEEN YEARS HERE AT STATE HAS BEEN INVALUABLE AS A COUNSELOR AND FRIEND TO EVERYONE, WE DEDICATE THIS THIRTY-FIFTH VOLUME OF THE "GRIST."

FRANK W. KEANEY

FOREWORD . . .

THIS issue of the GRIST shall serve as a link in your chain of memories of Rhode Island State College.

This volume shall serve as a means of renewing acquaintances for each graduate will follow his chosen path; except for occasional instances when class reunions are held, there will be no more opportunities to mingle with one another.

The true value of this book will only become apparent when the present fresh and radiant memories we now have, will become dimmed and faded by passing time.

Let us treasure this book so that twenty years from now we may once more see sacred phases of our adolescent youth.

TO THE CLASS OF 1935:

YOU are graduating into a world from which the veil of insecurity has not yet been lifted. A new social and economic order is rapidly approaching to create new values for those swept away in the flood. There will be no reception committee at the Gateway of the Future to mitigate your first impressions of this generation of flux. You will have to cope with problems unknown to those who have preceded you. Laborers will be found a plenty but leaders will be few. Opportunities will be greater than ever before. You are leaving your Alma Mater having acquired friends, learning, and that indefinable thing R. I. S. C. spirit, also a sense of your responsibilities and obligations to society which will help you realize your hopes for the future. Have faith in yourself and your ideals. You alone can preserve them.

I congratulate you on the success of your college career. May you always find or make the opportunity to do fine deeds.
