Year's Review

THE past year has been felt by all connected with the institution to be one of peculiar progress and accomplishment, a year of earnest and fruitful endeavor. Hardly a factor in the college life has failed to progress. Athletics have raised the blue and white higher than ever before. The debate with M. A. C., our first inter-collegiate debate, opened up a new field of activity. The Military Department, thru its Rifle Team has been exceptionally efficient. One new fraternity, the Beta Phi, has been formed, as well as a Freshmen Literary Society. But the scholastic side has seen the greatest improvement. Never before have we had such careful attention to study. The cause of this may be largely attributed to the establishment of the honor system and the elimination of final examinations for all receiving the honor grade of eighty-five. At commencement in June, the first at which honors were given, one Senior graduated with final honors, while thirteen received undergraduate honors for the year. The college lost one of its oldest and most conscientious professors in the resignation of Miss Watson as head of the department of languages. She has been efficiently replaced, however, by Dr. Frank Sechrist, from the Wisconsin Normal School, the department also being changed to English and modern languages. Dr. Sechrist has also reorganized the department of psychology and education. Mr. F. S. Putney succeeds Mr. C. B. Coleman as professor of animal husbandry. Messrs. J. A. Fottler's and A. M. Howe's places as instructors in electric engineering are filled by Mr. Paul Cloke and Mr. G. E. Peaslee. Mr. W. S. Higgins has been succeeded by Mr. F. H. Bills as instructor in mathematics. During the summer vacation an extremely successful Summer School with courses in nature study, practical agricultural, and domestic science was held besides the annual Farmers' Week at the Christmas recess, which was attended unusually well, as was deserved by its efficient programs.
