Senator Claiborne Pell
Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C.

Dear Senator Pell:

When things concerned with the National Endowment for the Humanities are concerned I always rush to you because I know of your vital concern. You may remember that when Ronald Berman was being replaced I urged you to seek only the highest talent, and you came up with Joe Duffy, a splendid choice. Now that the position is being filled again, I urge you to look long and seriously at the credentials of Edward Curran.

I am enclosing a couple of articles on the NEH that I have written, one already published and one to be delivered to the South Atlantic Modern Language Association next month. I hope you or one of your assistants will have time to read these papers and I hope you will be searching in question Mr. Curran.

Sincerely

Ray Browne
