Dear Mr. Sweeney:

I was very sorry that the Greater Antilles project was ultimately turned down by the Humanities Endowment. I am afraid that we found ourselves enmeshed in a confused internal situation on the National Endowment for the Humanities that is still not entirely clear to me.

I found the proposal particularly interesting after some Caribbean studies in college and a course with Gerry Murray at Yale on Haitian anthropology.

I am returning the copy of the proposal that you sent me.

With kind regards.

Sincerely,

Alexander D. Crary
