A00: Instructional Development Program

A. Proposal

1. Continuation of the Instructional Development Program with general revenue funding after the expiration of the Lilly Endowment grant in August, 1978.

2. Policy for the IDP:

- The major goal of the Instructional Development Program (IDP) shall be to provide expert and practical assistance to faculty members and teaching assistants, individually or in groups, who are interested in assessing and/or increasing the effectiveness of their instruction. Within this context, the major focus of the IDP’s efforts shall be an individualized teaching consultation process, a program oriented toward extensive work with faculty members on an individual basis. The activities of the IDP with respect to individual faculty members shall be held in strictest confidence; IDP personnel shall not write letters which might be considered as part of a faculty member's request for promotion, tenure, retention or merit pay increases.

- In addition, the IDP shall attempt to promote an institutional environment in which effective teaching is actively encouraged, expected, discussed by students, faculty and administrators, and is systematically and fairly rewarded. These ends may be reached through a variety of activities such as: organizing, sponsoring and conducting colloquia and workshops in which outstanding faculty and professionals in faculty development may share their expertise and knowledge with the University community; conducting, reporting and evaluating research relating to teaching effectiveness; and working with academic units on curricular problems of their own choosing. The IDP shall not participate in faculty promotion and tenure deliberations.

Administratively, the IDP shall be directly attached to the office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs. The personnel of the IDP shall consist of a full-time Director, a full-time Instructional Development Specialist, a full-time Secretary and part-time student helpers where feasible.

Policy for the IDP shall be developed by the Teaching Effectiveness and Facilities Committee (TEFC) and referred to the Faculty Senate Executive Committee and the Faculty Senate for final approval. The TEFC shall present reports on the IDP to the Faculty Senate at least one time each year.
